Legend

- Point #1. Lublin RR Station: Two story, brick, 60 by 25 m. tin or tile-covered gable roof. Double track south side of station running east and west. Ten track sidings located immediately south of double track Point #3.
- #2. RR Bridge: Concrete, 30 m. long x 20 m. wide x 5 m. high. Across highway at Point #4.
- #3. Double Track: Standard gauge, tracks leading from Lublin 5115N-2234E to Ryjowice 5107N-2314E.
- #4. Road: Brick, eight m. wide, condition unknown [redacted] 25X1X
- #5. Road: Brick, six m. wide, condition unknown [redacted]
- #6. Road: Brick, six m. wide, condition unknown [redacted] 25X1X
- #7. Swidnik RR Station: One story, brick, 20 x 10 m. building with a tin-covered gable roof.
- #8. Airfield: Grass field (dimensions unknown). No fence or hangars were observed. It was located north of the RR tracks at Point #3; it was west and adjacent to the forest at Point #10.

25X1X [redacted] noticed 30, two-engine Soviet bombers (PE-2 type) and one Soviet bi-plane (AN-2 type) at the east end of the airfield. Seven or eight single engine aircraft were observed on the west end of the airfield. These single engine aircraft had Polish markings, and were believed to be fighter types.

Point #9. Runway: Located on the airfield at Point #8. No dimensions or construction data available.

#10. Building: No construction or dimensional data available.

25X1X #11. Forest: Located on eastern edge of the Airfield at Point #8. [redacted] observed buildings located in cleared area in this forest (no data available on buildings) also two or three tank cars sitting on railroad tracks. The tank cars had single domes, and four axles (two, double axle, swivel trucks) similar to figure 4, table 12, section 3, AIG.

25X1X #12. Truck Factory: No construction or dimensional data available [redacted] It was built in 1949 or 1950. [redacted] believed it to have been producing new, 3½ ton army type trucks. The entire area was 10 hectares surrounded by steel meshed fence, 2½ m. high. The factory was located 1½ km. from the Airfield at Point #8. RR tracks were seen leading into the factory area at an unknown point.

25X1X [redacted] stated, on various occasions, that he observed aircraft parts, wing sections, and fuselage, being transported on RR flat cars in the vicinity of the airfield, but he did not know the destination of these items.
